DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicants' amendment filed on 7/27/06 has been fully considered and made of record.
2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
3. Claims 17-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tsai (5,443,591)). This rejection is set forth in prior Office Action, paragraph 3 dated 4/27/06.
4. Further, Claims 17-25 are also rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lai et al (5,722,848). This rejection is set forth in prior Office Action, paragraph 4, dated 4/27/06.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed on 7/27/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

At first, applicants contend that no surface mount region and no forming of groove are found in Tsai (see "Remarks" pages 4-5). The Examiner disagrees and refers applicants to Fig. 4 of Tsai which depicts the above features i.e., surface mount regions for receiving of electrical device as 14, further fig. 4 also shows a socket housing having grooves 34's and the grooves being formed in the housing part.

Therefore, applicants' arguments have been carefully noted and not found to be persuasive as reasons above.

Note, the amendment to the claims language such as where "the groove in the same plane as a surface mount region for an electrical device". This limitation is also met by Tsai see fig. 4 which shows the groove 34 being substantially on the same plane with the mounting regions of the electrical device.

Furthermore, regarding the Lai reference, applicants contend that Lai does not teach surface mount region and groove (see "Remarks" pages 5-6). The Examiner disagrees because in general, the Lai reference does teach the surface mount regions (readable as 24 on the base 22 for receiving of electrical device as contact or the like, see discussed at col. 4, lines 24-30), further fig. 4 clearly shows that there is at least one groove formed on the base 22 and the at least groove is substantially on the same plane with the mounting regions 24 of the base. Therefore, applicants' arguments regarding the above have been carefully noted and not found to be persuasive because their arguments do not comply with 37 CFR 1.111(c) because they do not clearly point out the patentable novelty which he or she thinks the claims present in view of the state of the art disclosed by the references cited or the objections made. Further, they do not show how the amendments avoid such references or objections.

In light of the above, Applicants' arguments with respect to Tsai or Lai et al are moot.

Interviews After Final

6. Applicants note that an interview after a final rejection will not be granted unless the intended purpose and content of the interview is presented briefly, in writing (the agenda of the interview must be in writing). Such an interview may be granted if the examiner is convinced that disposal or clarification for appeal may be accomplished with only nominal further consideration. Interviews merely to restate arguments of record or to discuss new limitations which would require more than nominal reconsideration or new search will be denied. See MPEP 714.13 and 713.09.

Conclusion

7. It is noted that any amendment made to the disclosure and the claims. Applicant requires to point out the support provide numeral references to the claimed limitations as well as support in the disclosure (i.e., page and line numbers and reference number associated with from the drawings) for better clarity (See 37CFR 1.111 and section 2163.06 of the MPEP).

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
